

INVESTING IN THE INDIA STORY

(From left); Sourav Majumdar, Editor, Business Today; Siddharth Zarabi, Managing Editor, BTTV; and Rahul Kanwal, News Director, India Today and Aaj Tak, and Executive Director, Business Today; with Nitin Gadkari, Union Minister of Road Transport & Highways

» Speaking about the next phase of India's economic growth, Gadkari said he often encourages people like peons, [police] constables or labourers to invest in infrastructure investment trusts (InvITs)

» He said InvITs offer a unique opportunity for the common man to participate in the country's rapid infra building and get healthy returns on their investments as well

» Talking about electoral bonds, he said the intention behind the scheme was good and, in the interest of value-based politics, all political parties should think about a way of funding elections that are transparent

| 93

ews Director of India Today and Aaj Tak, and r, Gujarat; Nitin Gadkari, Union Minister of Road Siddharth Zarabi, Managing Editor, BTTV; and issue on India's Best Banks

TAKING STOCK OF THE ECONOMY

Siddharth Zarabi (left), Managing Editor, BTTV; with Arvind Panagariya, Chairman, 16th Finance Commission

» Batting for privatisation of public banks after the General Elections, Panagariya said now is a good time as banks are flourishing and have solid value

» Speaking on the possibility of distorted GDP data, Panagariya said it is not very easy to fudge GDP growth data as it is an aggregate of mass data collection

» On the status of poverty, he said according to the latest data, extreme poverty has fallen below 3-4% from 20% in 2011-12