

EXPORT AWARDS CELEBRATE BRIGHTEST STARS IN GEM & JEWELLERY TRADE

For centuries, India has been synonymous with exquisite gems and jewellery, captivating the world with its rich heritage of craftsmanship and unparalleled beauty. This illustrious tradition continues to shine brightly today, solidifying India's position as a global leader in the diamond and jewellery export industry.

A recent testament to this enduring legacy was the 50th India Gem and Jewellery Awards (IGJA), a glittering ceremony organized by the Gem & Jewellery Export Promotion Council (GJEPC). The IGJA recognizes and celebrates the outstanding achievements of companies across various segments of the Indian gem and jewellery industry. This year, the 50th edition of the IGJA ceremony was graced by Chief Guest, Shri Ramesh Bais, Hon. Governor, Maharashtra State, and Guest of Honour, business tycoon Shri Mukesh Ambani, Chairman & MD, Reliance Industries Ltd., highlighting the immense significance of the industry to India's economic growth.

Today, the $40 billion gem and jewellery industry proudly contributes nearly 14% to India's overall merchandise exports and serves as one of the leading employment generators in the country, providing livelihoods to more than 5 million people.

India, recognised as the world's leading cut & polished diamond manufacturer, presents an impressive array of both plain and studded gold jewellery, featuring diamonds and coloured gemstones, platinum jewellery, silver jewellery, and lab-grown diamonds. With a commendable 26.5% share of world exports amounting to $86.75 billion, the Indian diamond sector emerged as a dominant force on the international stage. 14 out of 15 diamonds set in jewellery worldwide are processed in India. Going ahead, industry's goal is to achieve $75 billion gem and jewellery exports by 2030. Striving to achieve it, GJEPC is exploring newer markets such as Latin America, Vietnam, Cambodia and more. The Council has been organising India Pavilions at top global trade shows and holding curated buyer-seller meets, connecting Indian manufacturers with international buyers to boost exports. GJEPC has collaborated closely with the Ministry of Commerce and Industry to facilitate trade pacts like CEPA with UAE, and ECTA with Australia, which have significantly increased exports in these markets. State-of-the-art upcoming projects like the Mumbai Jewellery Park and Jaipur Gem Bourse promise improved livelihoods for Indian artisans. India is actively pursuing its ambition to become
