Adani Ahmedabad Marathon has grown exponentially over the past eight years to become a cultural movement for the city and one of India's premier distance-running events.

ADANI SPORTSLINE PUTS ITS BEST FOOT FORWARD TO MAKE INDIA A SPORTING POWERHOUSE

From unearthing raw talents at grassroots level to elite sports management, the sports arm of the Adani Group is reimagining the nation's sports landscape.

In an era where sports play an increasingly vital role in fostering community spirit and national pride, few organisations exemplify the transformative power of athletic endeavours as profoundly as Adani Sportsline. By investing in grassroots programmes and nurturing budding talents, Adani Sportsline is not merely supporting athletes but also fundamentally reimagining the landscape of Indian sports. From marathons to football fields, and now a bold rebuild in the Pro Kabaddi League (PKL), the initiatives spearheaded by Adani Sportsline are shaping the future of countless young athletes, instilling in them the intrinsic values of perseverance, dedication and excellence.

As the PKL enters its 12th season, Adani Sportsline-owned Gujarat Giants have undertaken a strategic overhaul under the leadership of veteran coach Jaivir Sharma, a stalwart of Indian kabaddi with over 30 years of experience. Alongside him, debutant Varinder Singh Sandhu brings proven leadership from both national and international arenas. The franchise retained promising raiders like Himanshu Singh, Himanshu, Parateek Dahiya, and Rakesh Sungroya, banking on a youthful core with tremendous upside. The marquee acquisition of Iranian superstar Mohammadreza Shadloui for Rs 2.23 crore, the highest bid of the season, has made headlines, underlining the Giants' ambitions to contend for the PKL title.

Vision & Mission

Operational since 2017 and formally established as a separate entity in 2019, the sports arm of the diversified conglomerate has unearthed the following raw talents, nurtured them and helped them rise and shine on the competitive stage.

India is proudly emerging as a vibrant multi-sporting nation, and Adani Sportsline is at the forefront of this ongoing revolution. In alignment with Adani Group's aspiration to actively contribute to nation-building through sports, Adani Sportsline has been

"Every initiative we undertake, whether through our academies, leagues, or grassroots programmes, is driven by our vision of making India as a leading sporting nation."
