

96 |

CAPITAL, TECH, CLIMATE

(From left) Sakshi Batra, Senior Associate Editor & Anchor, BTTV

Sanjay Podder, Global MD, Technology, Sustainability & Innovation, Accenture

Anjali Ravi Kumar, Chief Sustainability Officer, Eternal

Yashika Singh, Chief Corporate Affairs Officer and Sustainability Head, PepsiCo India and South Asia

Nikunj Dube, Director & Head, CARE ESG Ratings

Siddhartha Basu Chatterjee, Associate Publisher, Business Today Magazine

“You need technology to address all sustainable goals,” Podder said.

“More than one-fifth of our deliveries are through EVs. In Bengaluru, one-quarter of our deliveries are on EVs,” Kumar said.

“There is a gap between the consumer’s purpose-driven intent and ability to pay,” Singh said.

“Due diligence in the form of visiting company premises to check how ESG is being implemented is required,” Dube said.

“The role of big companies—the motherships, the buyers, the ecosystem formers—cannot be overstated,” Ramesh said.

“Central banks across the world are embedding climate risk. RBI came up with guidelines—firms need to evaluate climate risk and opportunities,” Rana said.

“It was okay earlier to be a cheaper made-in-India product. Now, products are globally competitive at the same price point,” Gupta said.

CAPITAL MEETS CLIMATE

(From left) Swapna Gupta, Partner at Avaana Capital

Mridula Ramesh, Founder, Sundaram Climate Institute

◀ Namrata Rana, National Head, ESG, KPMG India