Sizzling Salsa

BANGALORE Strap on those high heels, don your sexiest dress and swing away at the India International Salsa Congress Championship 2007. The Congress will bring together participants from over 18 countries. It has a lot to offer to the layman as well—from performances and instructions to workshops.

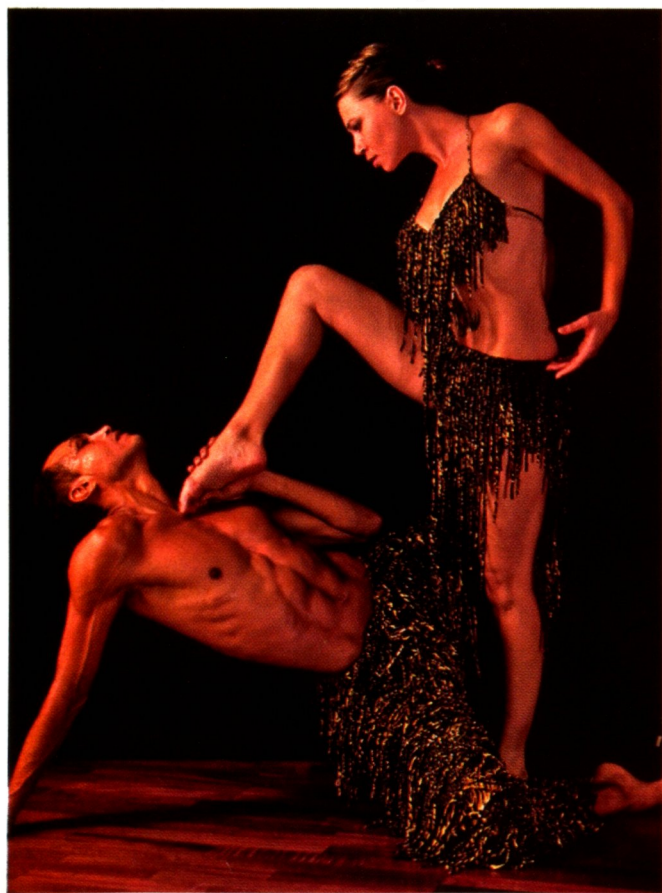

The music will be international too, with Tony Lara from Italy, Joseph Enin from Hong Kong and Gataloca from France as the official DJs. The Congress will also be rocking Chennai, Delhi, Mumbai, Pune, Mysore, Goa and Kolkata with pre-salsa parties with over 47 hours of workshops, live music, and special courses for beginners and master classes for experts. Also on the anvil are workshops for mambo, zouk, bachata, tango, flamenco, Bollywood, taggaeton, belly dancing, body dynamics, exotic dancing and professional developmental seminars and a special workshop for DJs. There will be all-India salsa championships with prizes worth over Rs 3 lakh. British musician Paul Young will be conducting a salsa choreography session where beginners can learn salsa in six hours and go on to compete.

The grand finalé, with prize money of over Rs 2 lakh, will be held in Bangalore. Local competitions will begin on August 1; finals and international championships will be from August 15-19.

Ode to a Maestro

DELHI The late Ustad Bismillah Khan's adopted daughter, vocalist Soma Ghosh from the Benaras gharana, has organised a two-day festival to commemorate the death anniversary of her father, starting with a screening of the film Yaad-e-Bismillah on July 29. It traces the dramatic course of the legend's life, starting from his acquiring the skill of playing shehnai to his last days. Senior musicians like Dr Balamuralikrishna, Girija Devi, Pandit Jasraj, N. Rajam, Parveen Sultana, Ustad Dilshad Khan and Pandit Brij Narayan provide inputs on their association with Khan. Ghosh will present all the favourite kajris of the ustad, accompanied by his sons. Also on display will be a rare collection of some of his photographs. On July 30 is a concert by musicians who will be playing instruments which are fighting for survival. At Ashoka Hotel.
