

Jeevan Jyoti Group of Hospitals Boon for Childless Couples

Dr. Vandana Bansal
MBBS, MS, DGO, FCGP
Director

Undaunted by the odds, today I have reached a stage of bringing qualitative health care to the people. Educating people on the importance of health care was a tough job.

Every big success has a small beginning and so is it with the Jeevan Jyoti Hospital and Arpit Test Tube Baby Center, the brain child of infertility expert and senior gynaecologist Dr. Vandana Bansal and laparoscopic surgeon Dr. A. K. Bansal in Sangam city, Allahabad. The forte of the couple is action and their sheer hard work and determination, has made the Arpit Test Tube Baby Center, a pet word for every woman who wants a baby.

The success story dates back to 1988, when a young medico from a middle class family (who postgraduated in the field of medicine and dreamt along with his doctor wife Vandana) sets up a small 10 bedded clinic in Allahabad. While medicine (treating patients) is the duo's karma, dreaming about establishing a chain of world class hospitals is their vision.

Contrary to other young medicos, who were driven by the glamour of metros, Dr. Vandana and her husband Dr. A. K. Bansal had decided to serve the mankind with a larger interest to reach the qualitative medical facilities to those middle class of entire region, who could not afford the right to
