

A NEW WONDER

After featuring in A.R. Rahman's much touted music video campaign for Taj Mahal's inclusion in the world's Seven Wonders, blue-eyed Kashmiri beauty Ferena Wazier, born and brought up in the UK, has set her sights on Bollywood. And while she's waiting to sign on the dotted line, Wazier, who trained at RADA in London, will make her debut in a Hollywood film to be directed by Davis Tonavic of No Man's Land fame. With talk of some hip-shaking in a film down south too; this lovely lady sure seems to be going places.

Name Game

She made her debut as Neha with Vidhu Vinod Chopra's Kareeb nine years ago. After a hiatus, marriage to Manoj Bajpai, and a reversal to her original name, Shabana Raza will now be seen in Sanjay Gupta's Alibaug. "People were coming to me with scripts that didn't excite me," Raza says. As for the name change, she says, "In all important documents I have always been Shabana. My husband also calls me that."

FANZAN HUSAIN

Back to Winning Ways

Her role as a Parsi mother hit by riots in Gujarat has not only won her accolades, but has now fetched this light-eyed beauty the Best Actress trophy at the 53rd National Awards. Sarika, who is now looking at a fresh lease in films, is ecstatic. "It feels good when any kind of recognition comes your way. But it feels great with Parzania because it's a cause close to my heart," she says. She will now be seen in a children's film Harry Puttar, to be followed by N. Chandra's Breaking News. Sure looks like a high scoring second innings.

RAMU'S MEHBOOBA

Urmila Matondkar returns to work with her mentor as she prepares to shake her booty as Mehbooba for Ram Gopal Varma ki Aag. While neither will say if their rumoured strife has ended, Urmila says diplomatically, "It's always great working with Ramuji."

"She epitomises dancing, oomph and expressiveness like no one else ever has or ever will."
