

56 | reproductions of historic artefacts, from pieces reflecting Mughal-Rajput artistry to those crafted using rare techniques such as Ronde-bosse and plique-à-jour enamelling. These include decorative boxes, vanity mirrors, a hair pin, pair of prancing horse earrings and a meenakari pill box. The price range is ₹1.25 lakh to ₹18.5 lakh. Niharika says the idea came to them when during the Anant Ambani wedding, Nita Ambani asked them to make an enamel box for her.

In November 2023, couturier Anita Dongre staged Rewild, her sustainability-themed show, in the courtyards of the City Palace. “Jaipur felt like the only city that made sense... Doing it at the City Palace wasn’t just a dream, it was a way to honour the city’s legacy.”

Each of these ventures reinforces the others. Museums gain visibility from affluent travellers and hotels benefit from fashion shows. As demand strengthens, supply thickens. “Luxury hotels play a significant role in shaping Jaipur’s tourism and luxury industry. They are open to collaborations, and our recent partnership with Rambagh Palace for our 10-year celebration was a wonderful example of that,” says Balana.

“Over the last few years, it’s been a nightmare to find a hotel room in Jaipur during season,” says Kadar. The influx of Hilton, Marriott, and Accor brands is designed to solve exactly that shortage.

By 2030, Jaipur could host more than 10,000 branded rooms, with luxury comprising nearly a third. Jaipur has long been synonymous with luxury, heritage and world-class hospitality. Now it is entering a new chapter.

For visitors arriving at dawn, when the sun hits the Hawa Mahal in blush and gold, the city’s transformation is almost literal. Jaipur may remain the Pink City in name. But in spirit, it is turning deep gold. BT
