

Palatial Splendour

Buoyed by renewed demand, sales of the glitzy mansions of the ultra-rich are surging like never before. Real estate majors are looking to capitalise on this by launching luxury offerings in record numbers

BY ARNAB DUTTA

In the Lap of Luxury

▶ The demand for luxury homes in India is at an all-time high now, accounting for 6-8% of the residential housing market

▶ Riding on the wave, leading developers are lining up new ultra-luxury projects like never before

▶ Affluent buyers are seeking better quality of life and world-class amenities, driving demand

▶ Real estate giants expect the demand for luxury homes to stay, despite economic uncertainties and inflation