

HOW ADANI SKILL DEVELOPMENT CENTRES ARE SKILLING YOUNG INDIA, & MAKING THEM 'SAKSHAM' PROFESSIONALS

With over 70 industry-aligned courses, ASDC utilises a hybrid model blending online education with hands-on training

Case 1: Harshna Leuva, from Lamba, Ahmedabad, is the eldest of four children. Her mother, Sharda ben, is a mid-day meal worker, and her father is a daily wage worker. Life was tough, and opportunities seemed distant, making Harshna feel a deep responsibility toward her siblings.

Discovering the General Duty Assistant (GDA) programme at Adani Skill Development Centre (ASDC) changed everything. The training provided her not only with technical skills but also a belief in her potential. With dedication and ASDC's support, Harshna secured a position as a Patient Care Assistant at CIMS Hospital, earning ₹18,500.

Harshna and her mother express their heartfelt gratitude, marking this opportunity as a turning point. For Sharda ben, Harshna's success brought renewed hope. Harshna's job is more than a career milestone; it is a chance to uplift her family and inspire her siblings to dream bigger, marking the beginning of a promising journey.

Case 2: Kamla Ben Kant lived a life confined by family responsibilities after moving to Ahmedabad. Her dreams seemed distant until a conversation about a training course in Narole ignited a flicker of hope. With mixed emotions, she joined the beautician training at ASDC, marking the beginning of her personal transformation. The training not only taught her a new skill but also instilled confidence and a sense of purpose.

Kamla's first paycheck was more than money—it was validation. A trip to Pune symbolised newfound

