

FOCUSSING ON THE BASICS

SHE MAY BE in the business of keeping customers cool during the summer months, but her job is a year-round affair. And amid the high-octane campaigns and cut-throat pricing, the seasoned Nadia Chauhan has learnt how to navigate the clutter and find her way to success. An avid horse lover, she finds her sense of freedom and connects with nature through horse-riding, travel or exercise. “I find that exercise is one of the most effective ways to manage stress. Whether it’s a quick workout, yoga, or a walk outdoors, moving my body helps clear my mind,” she says.

At a time when competition in the beverages market is heating up, Chauhan is focussing on the basics: expanding market reach, strengthening Parle’s dairy portfolio, evolving its supply chain and making its operations more efficient. To counter competition, she is “doubling down” on the company’s consumer-centric approach. “This means continuously listening to consumer feedback and evolving our products to meet their preferences,” she says. Under her stewardship, Parle is heavily focussing on data analytics to better understand market trends

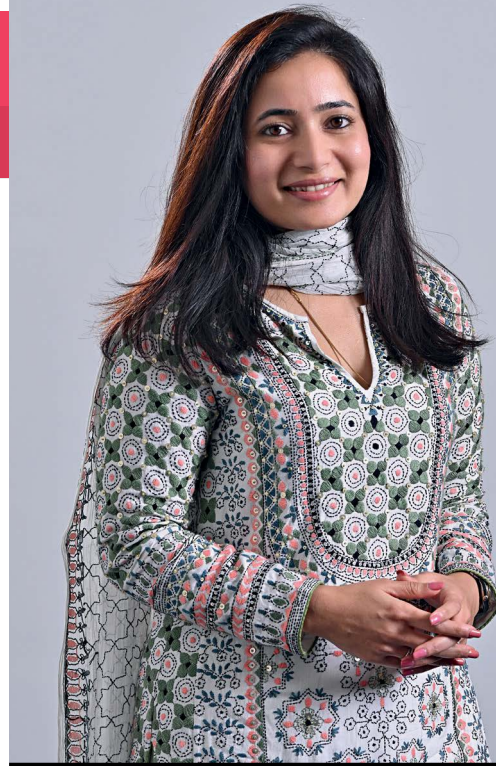

PHOTO BY MANDAR DEODHAR

NADIA CHAUHAN
38, Jt MD & CMO, Parle Agro

and consumer behaviour.

Chauhan and her team are busy growing the dairy portfolio after identifying the consumer’s love for healthier beverages after the pandemic. They have introduced a range of new products, including lassi. The expansion into dairy not only complements its existing offerings but also aligns with Parle Agro’s broader vision of introducing innovative beverages that cater to the evolving preferences of consumers throughout India. BT

— BY ARNAB DUTTA

76 |

ADVICE TO YOUNGER SELF

Embrace uncertainty and be open to taking risks. Every challenge is a learning opportunity

MANTRA FOR CHALLENGES

Stay resilient and adaptable. Focus on solutions rather than problems and be flexible in your approach

NAMITA THAPAR
47, Executive Director, Emcure Pharmaceuticals

PUBLIC GROWTH

IT HAS BEEN quite a year for Namita Thapar. “All the hard work we put in for Emcure’s IPO (in July) was super successful. Being a part of the senior team and leading the roadshows was exciting, exhausting and a great learning experience,” she says.

Life after going public will not be the same, but a confident Thapar thinks it is great for the Emcure brand and “building trust and pride for all our stakeholders”.

Thapar, a judge on Shark

Tank India, is clear that Emcure is poised for growth. “It will be driven primarily by our science-led portfolio, a competent management team, a great mix of professionals and family members,” she says, adding that she is excited about Emcure’s foray into consumer health, with a focus on women’s health. BT

— BY KRISHNA GOPALAN

ADVICE TO YOUNGER SELF

Respond, don’t react. I’m more patient now and it helps me get the best out of my team

MANTRA FOR CHALLENGES

Dedicate time to physical fitness and solo trips for silence/meditation

PHOTO BY MANDAR DEODHAR