

PENSION SCHEME

Early Bird Schemes

NPS Vatsalya serves as a foundation for initiating your child's retirement planning early on, while instilling a sense of financial discipline

BY TEENA JAIN KAUSHAL

► IF YOU WANT a big post-retirement kitty for your child, start preparing early. The National Pension System (NPS) Vatsalya, launched on September 18 by Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman, may be something to look at. The scheme is designed specifically for young subscribers. It allows parents or guardians to start saving for their minor children with the option of converting the account into an NPS Tier 1 account once the child reaches adulthood.

“Under this scheme, parents can open and manage investment accounts on behalf of their minors, ensuring a structured approach to savings and investments. This not only instils a sense of financial discipline from a

32 |

ILLUSTRATION BY RAJ VERMA