

4 INDIA-NEW ZEALAND FREE TRADE AGREEMENT

- ▶ Negotiations concluded in December 2025
- ▶ Bilateral trade at $2.1 billion, aim to double by 2030

| What it brings for India                                     | What's at stake for India                           |
|--------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------|
| Eliminates duty on 100% of Indian exports                    | Modest trade with New Zealand                       |
| New Zealand commits to $20 billion investment over 15 years | Questions over monitoring of investment commitments |
| India protects its key interests in dairy and agriculture    | Concerns in New Zealand over exclusion of dairy     |
| Opens new visa opportunities for 5,000 skilled occupations   |                                                     |

5 INDIA-EU FREE TRADE AGREEMENT

- ▶ Negotiations concluded in January 2026, likely to be operationalised by early 2027
- ▶ Bilateral merchandise trade was at $136 billion, aim to double by 2032

| What it brings for India                                                                               | What's at stake for India                    |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------|
| Eliminates duty on 97% tariff lines covering 99.5% of trade value                                      | Concerns over exclusion of CBAM from the FTA |
| Sensitive sectors, including dairy, cereals, poultry, soymeal, certain fruits and vegetables, excluded | Fineprint of deal awaited for more clarity   |
| Broader and deeper commitments across 144 services sub-sectors                                         |                                              |
| Assured regime for temporary entry and stay for professionals                                          |                                              |

6 INDIA-US BILATERAL TRADE AGREEMENT

- ▶ Announced in February 2026, likely to be operationalised in March 2026
- ▶ Bilateral trade at $186 billion, aim to double to $500 billion by 2030

| What it brings for India                                                                                                                  | What's at stake for India                                                               |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Lowers tariffs on several Indian exports to 25%, then 18%, from 50%                                                                       | India to buy $500 billion worth of US goods over five years                            |
| Zero tariff on generic pharma items, aircraft parts, spices, tea, coffee, fruits and vegetables, home décor, aircraft and machinery parts | 25% tariffs may come back if India purchases Russian crude oil                          |
| India protects sensitive sectors in dairy and agriculture, no exemption for GM crops                                                      | Concerns over agri concessions, commitment to address barriers to digital trade         |
| Lowers tariffs on industrial goods, could boost domestic manufacturing                                                                    | India reduces or eliminates duties on several goods without similar reduction by the US |

