

“THE DRAMATIC REPRIORITISATION OF AI IS OUR BIG OPPORTUNITY”

Tech Mahindra CEO & MD
Mohit Joshi on AI, growth, and the way ahead

BY KRISHNA GOPALAN

30 |

UNDER ITS NEW BOSS

Mohit Joshi, IT services and solutions company Tech Mahindra is ambitious and wants to grab every opportunity that comes its way. Joshi, who has a bachelor's in history from St. Stephen's College, Delhi, and an MBA from Faculty of Management Studies, Delhi University, joined Tech Mahindra in June 2023 as MD and took on the CEO's role in December. The CEO & MD, who started his career as a banker with ANZ and ABN Amro, spent more than two decades at Infosys, before joining Tech Mahindra. In an exclusive interview with Business Today, the 50-year-old speaks on a host of issues, including what he will do to drive growth, what makes his company unique, and what he makes of AI. Edited excerpts:

What was your mandate

when you took charge of Tech Mahindra?

Both the board and management were clear that it would not be prescriptive. There would be a lot of autonomy and they wanted a smooth transition from the outgoing CEO. While we are part of a large conglomerate, our performance must match up with the peer group.

How did you settle into the new role after a long stint at Infosys?

It was a six-month transition and flagged well in advance. The process of settling down was very easy because of the transition. Our clients could have had concerns, or the team may have exited in droves, or maybe we could have faced difficulty in attracting talent, or the stock [could have] just tanked. But CP (C.P. Gurnani, Joshi's predecessor) and I built a great relationship. The team