IT MAY SEEM difficult to think about the long term at a time when disruptions appear to be the norm. First there was the pandemic that brought business to a screeching halt, and then the impact of two wars that hit supply chains and pushed prices up. But it is precisely the ability to look beyond such vagaries of the present and put the organisation on a long-term growth path that distinguishes the best leaders. These were the leaders who were felicitated at the BT-PwC India's Best CEOs awards on March 9 in Mumbai. The annual event, known for discussions on emerging trends and challenges in the business landscape, witnessed the captains of India Inc. coming together to share insights and experiences. Among those who attended were dignitaries like Union Minister Hardeep Singh Puri, telecom tycoon Sunil Bharti Mittal, India's G20 Sherpa Amitabh Kant and many more.

Over the next few pages, we bring you the highlights of the various sessions at the event. BT
