

BULLISH ON DEMAND

» Optimistic about medium-term opportunities, Sanjiv Puri believes robust agricultural output will spur a recovery in demand in 2024

» He said that India continues to grow even as the rest of the world is struggling. He believes the steps taken by the government, like the revision of minimum support price, thrust on public digital and physical infrastructure, and the use of technology in agriculture are key positives in bridging the gap in demand

» Looking back at his tenure, the ITC veteran said that even though the recent macro environment has been uncertain for businesses, it has been encouraging as well; India has been very resilient

INDIA GOING PLACES

Amitabh Kant, India's G20 Sherpa and former CEO, NITI Aayog

» Kant believes the production-linked incentive scheme, launched in 2020, will help give wings to Indian companies and help them penetrate global markets, thus paving a path for robust economic growth

» He said that the country cannot grow only on the back of services and there needs to be participation from manufacturing and other sectors as well

» Looking forward, he said that private sector capex will kick in now and it will play a greater role than the government in the overall trajectory of India's growth
