

When Sleep is Bliss

The Motion Pillow, from healthcare devices specialist 10minds, has an AI Motion System-based solutions box, which identifies snoring patterns and responds by inflating airbags in the pillow that lift the user's head, opening airways and diminishing snoring. The accompanying app monitors sleep metrics, including snoring duration, airbag operation time, sleep score, and overall sleep duration. Recently, it introduced the Motion Ring, a companion device that provides real-time monitoring of sleep.

Keep a regular check on your vitals and be alerted about possible cardiac issues with this portable device

Health is Wealth

The BeamO is a 4-in-1 health check-up device from Withings, a major connected health firm. Combining ECG, oximeter, stethoscope, and thermometer sensors, this handy portable tool keeps a check on your temperature, heart and respiratory system, making at-home check-ups a breeze. The accompanying app is a handy way to maintain your health records and significantly enhance the quality of telehealth visits. The BeamO can alert users to possible fever and infection and will detect possible cardiovascular issues, including atrial fibrillation (AfIB).
