THIS JANUARY, at the meeting of the World Economic Forum in Davos, India was in the lime-light, with a host of global corporate leaders and experts who had converged at the ski resort, discussing the country and its prospects at various fora. One of them was Henrique Braun, EVP & President of International Development at The Coca-Cola Company. In an exclusive conversation with Business Today, Braun talks about Coca-Cola's strategic outlook and growth blueprint for India. Edited excerpts:

What is the strategic outlook of The Coca-Cola Company for the Indian market?
