

Kincentric unveils 16 Best Employers in India

Kincentric, the human capital advisory business of Spencer Stuart announced the winners of Best Employers in India 2023 study. Anurag Aman, MD and India Market Leaders for Kincentric India shared – “Best Employers in India continue to stay ahead of their competition by having the winning mix of human centered practices that not only enable great employee experience but also create differentiated business impact by attracting the right talent. They achieved higher business growth through a highly engaged team (Best Employers have 5% higher engagement score as compared to the rest). They have an edge both in execution of people programs as well as enabling positive experiences when it comes to empowerment (85% at the best feel empowered to make influential decisions), culture & brand (5% higher confidence in brand than the rest), work life integration (6% higher work life balance at the best vs the rest) to name a few.”

The study with a legacy of 24 years is conducted through the rigorous method to understand the alignment between business intent (CEO expectation), people practices and employee experience. The final decision is taken by an independent jury panel (Participants are white labelled for the jury till selected). This year's jury panel consisted of senior leaders and industry experts-

P Dwarkanath, the former Chairman of GSK Consumer Healthcare, Rachna Mukherjee, a seasoned HR Leader & former CHRO for Schneider Electric, Nishchae Suri, MD for Cornerstone OnDemand.

After careful evaluation of the wealth of data presented for each organization, the jury selected 16 Best Employers in India for 2023 which includes organization from various industries. This year we had further addition of 3 winners into the coveted BE Club, an elite group of organizations who have shown remarkable consistency in their resolve to stay ahead year after year!

Here are the Kincentric Best Employers in India for 2023 (in alphabetical order) followed by a snapshot into the winning formula for each of them.

Ageas Federal: Team culture as a differentiator

Vighnesh Shahane - MD & CEO
Kapil Udaival - CHRO

What could be the parameters to call an insurance company successful? It could be top-line, profitability, the dividend, the solvency margin and for the expanding enterprises it could be about the value of new business. But here is one company which has prioritised the work culture on top of everything and rest of the parameters have been fulfilled as a result.

“It’s about the culture. For us, our mantra is to perform like a sports team and the rest of things will be taken care of. Meritocracy, no bureaucracy, quick decisions, no politics, transparency - these are a few key elements that define our culture here at Ageas Federal. Employees feel empowered to speak up about their concerns or share their perspectives without fear of judgment or repercussion. So that’s the culture we’ve been trying to build in this company,” says Vighnesh Shahane, MD &

CEO of Ageas Federal Life Insurance.

In the fast-paced world of business, success often hinges on the ability of teams to collaborate effectively towards common goals. Drawing inspiration from the world of sports, where teamwork is paramount, organizations can learn valuable lessons on how to foster a culture of cooperation, excellence, and achievement. Ageas Federal promotes teamwork and collaboration with a focus on creating winning teams and not superstars. One of the key differentiators for Ageas Federal is enabling everyone to speak the same language and have a common and shared meaning of its values, culture, and strategic priorities. This is the foundation of the organization’s success despite presence across 67 locations in India.

“I think the bedrock of our collaborative culture is the focus on impact, leadership excellence and commitment to continuous learning for professional development. It stands out as a distinctive characteristic in our industry. Our core values – Care, Dare, Deliver and Share are simple for our people to understand and live by” shared Kapil Udaival, CHRO. He further added that at Ageas Federal what matters most is showing respect to others and at the same time pushing boundaries, challenging status quo, and making things happen.