This Indian multinational powerhouse has carved its path along with customers and partners to establish its leadership in the global packaging industry. Established for 40 years, EPL is a unique multi-national organization with presence in Asia Pacific, Middle East, Africa, Americas, Europe, China and South East Asia. Their global footprint in the industry is a testament to their unwavering commitment of Leading the Pack Sustainably.

EPL is more than just a global player; they're leaders. As Anand Kripalu, MD & Global CEO, emphasizes, "Leading the pack isn't just a slogan, it's our ingrained philosophy. We proudly claim leadership in sustainable packaging, with a vision to become the world's most sustainable company in this domain. This commitment extends beyond just products, it's about our people, too."

EPL's secret weapon? A uniquely human approach. They don't just invest in technology; they invest in people. "We train individuals afresh, equipping them with the expertise to create our specialized products," explains

Kripalu. They foster a strong sense of ownership and purpose, where employees take immense pride in their contributions, whether setting up plants across the globe or spearheading innovative projects.

Strong culture of one team fostering an entrepreneurial spirit delivering value to the customer and employees is at the core. As Sonal Jain, Global CHRO, states, "EPL's foundation lies in banking on the entrepreneurial spirit, innovative zeal and can do spirit of our people." This approach empowers employees to take initiative, contribute fresh ideas, and drive positive change.

EPL's dedication to talent goes beyond traditional training. "We rely on strong partnerships with technology companies to create solutions," says Jain. "But the ultimate source of our strength is our employees, driven by purpose, value, and an unwavering pride in the value created for our customers across the world."

EPL's winning formula? Blending cutting-edge technology with a people-centric approach. This results in "one of the best-in-class" workforces in the packaging industry, allowing them to truly "Lead the Pack" in the global packaging landscape. Their commitment to sustainability, combined with their unique approach to employee empowerment and community engagement, sets EPL apart as a truly innovative and impactful leader.

Kirloskar Pneumatic Company Limited: Shared values as the unifying factor

Founded in 1958 by Shantanurao Kirloskar, Kirloskar Pneumatic Company Limited is one of the core Kirloskar group companies which espouses all the values that come with being part of a rich 130-year legacy in manufacturing and industrial innovation.

The award comes to Kirloskar Pneumatic Company Limited as recognition to this sixty year old capital goods sector company which has nurtured a very strong human capital. "We bring together a lot of diversity and our people is our unifying factor which we call the human factor. The shared values and shared resources make it possible for us to work in different countries and various products with ease and strength," shared K Srinivasan, Managing Director of the company.

"Talent is the key asset for us- it is a combination of shared values and shared resources that keeps us all together. It is a well-groomed team committed to a common vision and values. They are the ones representing us in front of our customers," he shares.

Being a pioneer in the sector, the interesting facet about Kirloskar Pneumatic Company's human capital is that not only do they build talent for themselves but also end up building talent for several other companies around this space. They don't consider it as losing their resources but it is about sharing resources with the industry.

"Communication plays an important role in on-boarding our stakeholders and aligning them to a common goal. We engage extensively with our suppliers, our community, our vendors or customers," shared Ganesh Chaudhari, Head - Human Resource.

Kirloskar Pneumatic Company has its eyes set on 20% year on year growth and they intend to achieve this by continuously growing and nurturing their talent pool.

"Since the last couple of years now, we have adopted a much customized learning approach. We have in place a robust mechanism added to our annual operating plan and the business strategies and priorities for each function," added Chaudhari.

"We do a human business, we are a humane business," said Srinivasan, that's what makes Kirloskar Pneumatic Company Limited a Best Employer.
